Come Aboard! for the 8th National Grazing Lands Conference (8NGLC) at the Embassy Suites Kingston Resorts in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. This is the premier conference for innovative grazing land stewards, bringing together producers of all classes of livestock, land owners, and managers with natural resource conservationists, extension specialists and academia. The conference promotes grazing lands sustainability and regenerative grazing practices through education, networking, and technology innovation with hundreds of land managers from across the nation, who represent 73 percent of our nation’s land base.

Attendees are welcomed by an atmosphere that encourages the exchange of questions, ideas, and experiences through open-forum discussions as well as question and answer sessions following each presentation. An integrated trade show area allows exhibitors to develop relationships with the attendees throughout the conference, without the usual solicitation. Sponsors will be recognized on conference signage throughout the venue and on our online registration website. All conference activities are centralized around the trade show location to maximize exposure.

Join us for this one-of-a-kind conference where grazing land stewards share, grow and learn about the successes and shortcomings of innovative systems. It’s a place where grazers help grazers be economically sustainable, while environmentally enhancing our Nation’s vast grazing land resource. Be a part of our #AmazingGrazingLands.

We look forward to you becoming a partner for the 2021 8NGLC!
